DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-7 & 11-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Amin et al. (U.S. 6,353,398).

Regarding claims 1, 17 & 23, Amin discloses a method / a system for notification [figs.1-3, col.1, lines 6-11 and col.2, lines 53-66] comprising:

- determining an event occurrence [figs.1-4, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20];
- determining location indicia / hospitals, dealers (70), stores / restaurants (60) [figs.1-4, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20];
- sending information to a select communication device (50) when the event occurrence and the location indicia correlate with an event criteria and location criteria [figs.1-4, col.1, lines 45-50 and col.2, line 53 to col.3, line 47].

Art Unit: 2636

Amin fails to mention a term “profile” is used in the system that outlines when certain types of information are to be delivered .

However, Amin clearly teaches a system for notification includes a focus directed system (20a) combines the directed information system mention above with a selectively defined parameter may include demographic and other related criteria for linking specific information to a regionally located user as individual incomes , survey information of a user , buying history / pattern [fig.3, col.4, lines 3-28]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have the system of Amin which user may receive information based on time , location and event triggers that outlines when certain types information are to be delivered .

Regarding claims 2-3 & 18-19, Amin does not specifically disclose the determining an event occurrence and location indicia steps as claimed by the applicant.

However, Amin clearly teaches the system for delivering information such as a notification or other content . The system for directing and receiving information to and from geographically relevant locations. The system links information from Internet or other databases when both the event occurrence and location indicia / hospitals , dealers (70), stores / restaurants (60) is actual location or area and proximity of to a location , the information is requested can be sent to the appropriate communication device such as a computer / hand-held mobile , webpage, e-mail system is selected by the user [figs.1-4, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20 and col.3, lines 7-47]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to employ the system of Amin to provide directing information to users who met certain criteria .

Regarding claims 4-5, Amin discloses the information is sent to the selected communication device is a notification pertaining to the event occurrence and the location indicia [fig.3, col.2, lines 5-20 , col.3, lines 7-47 and col.4, lines 3-28].

Regarding claim 6, the communication devices for requesting and receiving informations by a user is a remote service [col.2, lines 5-20 , col.3, lines 7-47 and col.4, lines 3-28].

Regarding claim 7, Amin discloses the location indicia / hospitals , dealers (70), stores / restaurants (60) is actual location or area and proximity of to a location [figs.1-4, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20].

Regarding claims 11-12, Amin discloses the information is sent to the selected communication device is a mobile phone or computer or electronic device to the mobile user (50) [fig.2, col.3, lines 7-47].

Art Unit: 2636

Regarding claims 13-15, Amin discloses the user requesting the location information through a computer / hand-held mobile , webpage, e-mail system as desired [fig.2, col.1, line 45 to col.2, line 20 and col.3, lines 7-47] .

Regarding claim 16, the request informations are stored in a database or Internet is sent the computer / hand-held mobile , webpage, e-mail system is selected by the user [fig.2, col.1, line 45 to col.2, line 20 and col.3, lines 7-47] .

Regarding claim 20, Amin discloses a computer readable medium comprising software configured to instruct a computer (10c) to [fig.5, col.4, line 51 to col.6, line 10 and col.8, lines 20-49]:

- determining an event occurrence [figs.1-5, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20 and col.4, line 51 to col.6, line 10];
- determining location indicia / hospitals , dealers (70), stores / restaurants (60) [figs.1-5, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20 and col.4, line 51 to col.6, line 10];
- sending information to a select communication device (50) when the event occurrence and the location indicia correlate with an event criteria and location criteria [figs.1-5, col.1, lines 45-50 , col.2, line 53 to col.3, line 47 and col.4, line 51 to col.6, line 10] .

Amin fails to mention a term “profile” is used in the system that outlines when certain types of information are to be delivered .

Art Unit: 2636

However, Amin clearly teaches a system for notification includes a focus directed system (20a) combines the directed information system mention above with a selectively defined parameter may include demographic and other related criteria for linking specific information to a regionally located user as individual incomes , survey information of a user , buying history / pattern [fig.3, col.4, lines 3-28]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have the system of Amin which user may receive information based on time , location and event triggers that outlines when certain types information are to be delivered .

Regarding claims 21-22, Amin does not specifically disclose the determining an event occurrence and location indicia steps as claimed by the applicant.

However, Amin clearly teaches the system for delivering information such as a notification or other content . The system for directing and receiving information to and from geographically relevant locations. The system links information from Internet or other databases when both the event occurrence and location indicia / hospitals , dealers (70), stores / restaurants (60) is actual location or area and proximity of to a location , the information is requested can be sent to the appropriate communication device such as a computer / hand-held mobile , webpage, e-mail system is selected by the user [figs.1-4, col.1, line 63 to col.2, line 20 and col.3, lines 7-47]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to employ the system of Amin to provide for directing information to users who met certain criteria .

3. Claims 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Amin et al. (U.S. 6,353,398) in view of Asaoka et al. (U.S. 6,349,203).

Regarding claim 8, Amin fails to mention the event occurrence is a weather event and the location indicia relates to a location of a person potentially affected by the weather event .

To understand the weather condition in a place to stop by or visit is forecasted a thunderstorm or heavy snow is on the way in that area is very important subject to a visitor / traveler for preparing or making a decision to go over there or not .

Asaoka teaches a technique of informing a weather condition at least 7 days forecast to a person who want to get that weather information from a portable terminal device (30) [figs.4-5, col.6, lines 6-15 and lines 54-61]. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to utilize the teaching of Asaoka in the system of Amin for notifying weather updates to a visitor / traveler for preparing or making a decision to go over there or not .

Regarding claims 9-10, Asaoka teaches a technique of informing a weather condition at least 7 days forecast to a person who want to get that weather information from a portable terminal device (30) should be included time or period of time of the severe weather [figs.4-5, col.6, lines 6-15 and lines 54-61].
